

posty.now

User guide

Everything you can do in posty.now: posts, ads, analytics, scheduling, and voice — step by step, with examples and tips.

24 August 2026 · posty.now

Contents

- 01 What posty.now is
- 02 Posting accounts
- 03 Ads accounts
- 04 What each ads network supports
- 05 The assistant
- 06 Voice dictation
- 07 Captions, ideas, brand voice
- 08 Publish now
- 09 Schedule at a specific time
- 10 Best time
- 11 A month of content: daily series
- 12 Promotions, launches, specific dates
- 13 Formats per network
- 14 The confirmation card
- 15 Cancel, reschedule, edit
- 16 Statistics: posts
- 17 Statistics: ads
- 18 Phrases that work well
- 19 If something goes wrong

01

What posty.now is

posty.now is a studio with an AI assistant. You say what you want — by typing or by speaking — and Posty drafts, schedules, and publishes on your connected networks. You do not bounce between apps to put the same photo on Instagram, TikTok, and Facebook.

Paid ads sit next to organic posts. You connect ads accounts and see campaigns, spend, impressions, clicks, and conversions in one place. Posts and ads are different jobs; the studio holds both, and does not mix them up.

On the left: Assistant, Statistics (Posts / Ads), and Accounts (Posts / Ads again). Language and local time are at the bottom. Every schedule follows that clock, not some other timezone.

TIP

Start with accounts

The assistant can write captions immediately. To publish or to show analytics, connect networks first — posting accounts, and ads accounts if you run paid campaigns.

02

Posting accounts

Go to Accounts → Posts. Connect Instagram, Facebook, Threads, TikTok, YouTube, LinkedIn, Pinterest, Google Business, X, Bluesky, and Reddit.

Hit Connect, authorize, done. Facebook asks for a Page, LinkedIn can be a profile or a company page, Pinterest a board, Google Business a location.

Bluesky does not use a normal login: it needs an App Password, not your regular account password. The help link on the card explains how to create one.

You can connect more than one account on the same network. Whatever is connected here is what the assistant can publish to.

TIP

This is not ads

Connecting Instagram for posting does not open Meta Ads. Paid accounts live under Accounts → Ads.

Ads accounts

Posts earn organic reach. Ads pay to be seen. In posty.now both belong — they just connect separately.

Go to Accounts → Ads. Connect Meta Ads, Google Ads, LinkedIn Ads, TikTok Ads, Pinterest Ads, X Ads, and OpenAI Ads.

An ads account does not publish to the feed. It unlocks paid campaigns: what is running, what you spend, what you get back. You read that under Statistics → Ads.

X Ads needs X connected on Accounts → Posts first, then you connect X Ads. OpenAI Ads has no login popup: you paste an API key from ChatGPT Ads Manager. Those ads are cards inside ChatGPT (title, text, image, link), static images only, lifetime budget (minimum $1), and business eligibility — currently the United States, Canada, Australia, and New Zealand.

TIP

Organic + paid on Meta

If you post to Instagram/Facebook and also run paid campaigns, connect both: Posts (Instagram, Facebook) and Ads (Meta Ads). One without the other is half the picture.

TIP

Campaign creative is not a series file

A promotion or a dated ad should be uploaded on its own, with a clear publish time. Mixed into 29 other daily-content files, it can land on the wrong day.

What each ads network supports

Each ads platform works differently. The card on Accounts → Ads shows what you can create, whether you can boost existing content, what audiences you get, and how complete the stats are.

Boost means putting money behind something that already exists (a post, a Pin, a tweet). A standalone campaign is a new ad. Not every network does both.

Meta Ads

Can create. Full campaigns: Campaign → Ad set → Ad.

Boost. Yes — boost existing organic posts.

Audiences. Custom and Lookalike.

Analytics. Spend, impressions, reach, CTR, CPC, CPM, ROAS, conversions.

Google Ads

Can create. Search (Responsive Search Ads) and Display (Responsive Display Ads).

Boost. Not applicable — Google does not boost a social post.

Audiences. No audience targeting from Posty; Search and Display.

Analytics. Full aggregated reports.

LinkedIn Ads

Can create. Image, video, carousel, document, event, text ad, conversation ads, and more.

Boost. Yes.

Audiences. Contact/company lists and retargeting — read-only; you cannot create new audiences from Posty.

Analytics. Spend, CPC, CPM, plus job title, seniority, industry, company size.

TikTok Ads

Can create. Standalone video campaigns.

Boost. Spark Ads — promote native TikTok content.

Audiences. Custom and Lookalike.

Analytics. Spend, views, CTR, CPM, near real time.

Pinterest Ads

Can create. New Promoted Pins.

Boost. Yes — promote existing organic Pins.

Audiences. Basic: demographics and country.

Analytics. Spend, saves, closeups, clicks.

X Ads

Can create. Boost existing tweets or standalone campaigns (text up to 280 characters + a link card).

Boost. Yes.

Audiences. Location and language. Custom email lists are advanced (at least 100 recently active users).

Analytics. Spend, CPE, CPM, link clicks.

OpenAI Ads

Can create. Cards in ChatGPT Free/Go: title, text, image, URL. No video.

Boost. Not applicable.

Audiences. Location only (country/region).

Analytics. Impressions, clicks, spend, daily.

Lifetime budget only, minimum $1. Business eligibility and markets: United States, Canada, Australia, New Zealand.

TIP

Where ads work happens

Connecting accounts and reading results live in posty.now (Accounts → Ads, Statistics → Ads). Organic content — photos, video, series, dated promotions — you launch from the Assistant. Do not ask the assistant “how much did I spend on Meta”; open Statistics → Ads.

The assistant

The assistant is the heart of the studio. Ask for ideas, captions, publish, schedule, a month of content, or a promotion on a specific date.

Write naturally. No special commands. Name the networks, when it should go out, and whether you want a caption. If you do not name a network (and it is not a series for every network), Posty asks — it does not guess.

Attach up to 30 photos or videos, 100 MB each. Picker order is series order. Wait until uploads finish (orange badge), then send.

Clean chat clears the thread. Use it when you change topic or want to reset “don’t ask again”.

TIP

One message, one clear intent

“Publish this as an Instagram reel and TikTok now, and tomorrow at 9 put it on Instagram Stories” works in one message. Mixing a Friday promotion with 20 photos for the month does not.

TRY SAYING

“Give me three Instagram captions for a rainy Monday coffee shop.”

“Publish this now on Instagram and TikTok.”

“Starting tomorrow, one a day, on every network, at the best time.”

Voice dictation

Talk. Posty types. It is the fastest way to give a long instruction without a keyboard.

The microphone next to attachments is not a gimmick — it is the natural way to work in posty.now. Tap, speak like you would to a colleague, watch the words appear, fix a word if you want, send. Perfect when you have just picked 30 files, when you are on your phone, when you are describing a dated campaign with networks and tone, or when you simply do not want to type.

It works best in Chrome or Edge. The first time, the browser asks for the microphone: press Allow. If you hit Block by mistake, open the lock icon in the address bar, allow the microphone, reload.

While the mic is orange, Posty keeps listening — you can pause and continue. The placeholder becomes “Listening... speak now”. Tap the mic again to stop, then Send.

You can dictate in Romanian or English. If a phrase comes out wrong, edit it in the box — you do not start over. Attachments stay; voice fills in the instruction.

TIP

Say the whole thing

Networks, day, clock time or “best time”, caption or not, same file everywhere or a different file per network. The more complete the sentence, the cleaner the confirmation card.

TIP

Nothing appearing in the box?

Almost always microphone permission, not a broken mic. Chrome → lock icon → Microphone → Allow.

TRY SAYING

“Starting tomorrow, one a day, on Instagram, TikTok, and Facebook, at the best time, no caption.”

“Schedule this photo Friday at 10, it’s the autumn sale, Instagram and Facebook only, with a short sales line.”

Captions, ideas, brand voice

If you only want inspiration, say so. Posty offers 1–3 options and does not publish.

A caption is written only if you ask (“write a caption”, “give it a description”). If you send a photo and say “publish on Instagram now”, it goes out with no text — it will not reuse an old caption from the thread.

When you supply the copy, it is used exactly. If it is too long for a network (280 characters on X), it is trimmed to the limit and you are told.

You can describe the brand voice: “we are a warm bakery, no emoji, no slang.” Posty keeps that in the conversation so later drafts stay on tone.

TIP

Your copy wins

If you already have campaign copy, paste or dictate it. Posty will not rewrite it. Ask the AI only when you want options.

TRY SAYING

“Write a short caption, five hashtags, warm tone.”

“We are a photo studio. Voice: clear, no superlatives. Remember that.”

Publish now

Attach media if the network requires it (Instagram, TikTok, YouTube, Pinterest). Name the networks. Confirm on the card.

“All networks”, “everywhere” means every connected posting account. You can exclude: “everywhere except LinkedIn”.

It is not live until you see a green check on that network. “Publishing now” on TikTok means it is still processing — not an error. Wait for the check.

TRY SAYING

“Publish this video now on Instagram as a reel and on TikTok.”

“Post on every network except Reddit.”

Schedule at a specific time

Name the day and the clock time. Posty uses the sidebar clock (your local time), not a hidden timezone. "Tomorrow at 18:00" is 18:00 on that clock.

You can combine: publish a story now on Instagram and TikTok, and schedule the reel tomorrow at 12:00 on Instagram.

TIP

Check the clock

If you are travelling or on a VPN, look at Local time on the left. Schedules follow the studio clock.

TRY SAYING

"Schedule this tomorrow at 18:00 on TikTok and Instagram."

"Friday 15:00 on LinkedIn, this text, no photo."

Best time

Say "at the best time", "optimal time", "peak time". Posty does not invent 18:00. It picks the next peak window from industry research (Sprout, Hootsuite, Later, Buffer), in your timezone, as a stand-in for audience local time.

This is not your personal analytics — the posts dashboard is daily, not hourly. It is a solid default; if you know your audience is up at night, name the hour. An explicit clock time always wins.

Each network has its own rhythm. Instagram on weekdays tends toward ~11:00 (stories ~12:00), with an evening fallback ~19:00. TikTok toward ~19:00. LinkedIn skips weekends. Instagram and TikTok at "best time" may go out at different hours — that is intentional.

TRY SAYING

"Tomorrow at the best time, on Instagram and TikTok."

"Move Friday's post to the best time."

A month of content: daily series

Attach up to 30 files, in the order they should go out. Say “starting tomorrow, one a day, on every network, at the best time”. Photos and videos can mix.

The default is cross, not copy-paste. On the same day, each network gets a different file. Facebook might get media 1, X media 2, TikTok media 3. The same file never goes out on two networks that day. Across the month the files rotate so the calendar stays full.

If you want the same file on every network that day, say so: “the same on all of them”. Otherwise it stays cross.

TikTok and YouTube skip photos — they will not get stills. Videos are fine. The confirmation card shows, per day, which network gets which file. Large series always ask for confirmation; they will not skip the card.

TIP

Picker order matters

File 1 is day 1. Do not grab them at random if you already have an order in mind. You can remove an attachment with X before you send.

TRY SAYING

“Starting tomorrow, one a day, on every network, at the best time.”

“These 10 videos, the same file on every network each day, at 19:00.”

Promotions, launches, specific dates

A campaign is not a series. A specific date is not “one a day”.

If you have a promotion, a launch, a Black Friday, an event — upload that asset on its own. Say clearly when it should go out and on which networks. One file, one instruction, one confirmation.

If you drop campaign creative next to 29 other daily-content photos, the series treats it as just another day in the month. It may go out on Tuesday instead of Friday, on TikTok instead of Facebook, or next to a reel that has nothing to do with the offer.

The same rule applies when the asset is meant for ads. A daily series is cascading organic content. A paid ad, a boost, a promotion with a deadline — separate, with a date.

TIP

Two jobs, two messages

First the batch of 30 (the month’s content). Then a new chat or a new message, a single file, the promotion. Do not bind them in the same upload.

TRY SAYING

“Schedule this photo on 15 September at 10:00, Instagram and Facebook, it’s the autumn sale. This copy, exactly.”

“Publish the launch video Friday at 12:00 on Instagram as a reel and on TikTok. It is not part of the series.”

13

Formats per network

Reel exists on Instagram, not TikTok. Story exists on Instagram (and Facebook), not TikTok. "Post on Instagram as a reel and on TikTok" = Instagram Reel + a normal TikTok video.

"Instagram as a story and TikTok" = Instagram Story + TikTok video. "As a video on Instagram and TikTok" = Instagram publishes the video as a Reel automatically, TikTok as a video.

Name a format only on the network that has it. Do not ask for a reel on YouTube or a story on LinkedIn.

Instagram, TikTok, YouTube, and Pinterest require media. LinkedIn, X, Threads, Bluesky, Facebook, and Reddit can be text. X trims at 280 characters. Do not mix image and video in the same tweet.

TRY SAYING

"This video: Instagram reel and TikTok, now. And tomorrow at 9:00, Instagram story."

14

The confirmation card

Before anything goes out, you see a card: networks, time, preview, and for series a slot per day. Confirm or Cancel / edit.

You can tick "Don't ask again in this chat" if you want speed. That preference is only for this thread; Clean chat resets it. Large series still want eyes on the card — it is too easy to schedule 30 days wrong.

If you cancel, send a new instruction. Confirmation expires after a few hours; if you left the tab open overnight, send the command again.

15

Cancel, reschedule, edit

For a post scheduled from chat, you can ask to cancel it, move it, or change the caption. Identify it by network, time, or a snippet of the text.

Rescheduling can be a new clock time or “at the best time”.

TRY SAYING

“Cancel tomorrow’s TikTok post.”

“Move Friday’s Instagram post to 19:00.”

“Change Monday’s caption to: ...”

16

Statistics: posts

Statistics → Posts. Each network is a card: posts over 30 days, engagement, followers. Open a card for charts, a custom range, top posts, and comments where they exist.

Bluesky and Reddit give limited stats (likes, comments, shares — no impressions). Other connected networks give the full picture, within what each API provides.

This is where you see whether organic content landed. It is not the place for ad spend.

Statistics: ads

This is where the money shows. If no ads account is connected, the card is empty — that is not a bug.

Statistics → Ads. Per ads network: campaign count (30 days), spend, impressions. In detail: clicks, CTR, conversions, top campaigns, date range (7 / 30 / custom).

Use it to decide whether a campaign is worth continuing, not to confuse it with a post that did well organically. A reel with many likes and a campaign with a strong CTR are different wins.

Change the range in the detail view if you want to compare a sale month with the previous one. If no campaigns appear, check Accounts → Ads: is the account connected and active in the range you picked?

TIP

A short weekly loop

Once a week: Statistics → Posts (what landed organically) and Statistics → Ads (what cost money and what it returned). Then, in the assistant, adjust the series — or prepare a new dated creative if it is a promotion.

Phrases that work well

You do not need to memorize commands. These examples cover almost everything the studio can do.

TRY SAYING

"Give me three Instagram captions for a bakery on a Monday morning."

"Publish this now on Instagram as a reel and on TikTok."

"Schedule tomorrow at 18:00 on LinkedIn, this text."

"Tomorrow at the best time, on Instagram and TikTok."

"Starting tomorrow, one a day, on every network, at the best time."

"The same video on every network, one a day, at 19:00."

"Schedule this photo on 15 September at 10:00, Instagram and Facebook only — it's the promotion, not part of the series."

"Every network except LinkedIn."

"Cancel tomorrow's TikTok post."

"Move Friday's post to the best time."

"Write a caption, warm tone, no emoji."

"Don't ask for confirmation again in this chat."

If something goes wrong

Dictation writes nothing: Chrome or Edge, Allow on the microphone, lock icon in the address bar. Reload. Then the mic in chat — it should stay orange while you speak.

“Publishing now” on TikTok: wait. Processing is not an error. The green check is the signal.

Nothing publishes: Accounts → Posts, is the network connected? Do Instagram/TikTok/YouTube/Pinterest have a file attached?

File rejected: 100 MB max, 30 files max. Photos are skipped on TikTok/YouTube in a series.

Confirmation vanished: it expired. Send the command again.

Empty ads stats: Accounts → Ads, connect the network, then Statistics → Ads. A posting Instagram does not fill the ads dashboard.

Wrong language: the language switch is at the bottom of the sidebar, next to the clock.